Khloé Kardashian went on a double date with Kourtney Kardashian on Saturday night.

The 29-year-old beauty and her new boyfriend, French Montana, enjoyed an intimate dinner at Philippe Chow in New York City with her older sister and her long-time partner, Scott Disick, according to gossip website RadarOnline.com.

The famous siblings will begin filming their upcoming E! spinoff reality show, 'Kourtney & Khloé Take the Hamptons' in the exclusive enclave in Long Island, New York, tomorrow.

The couples were also spotted together last month in Los Angeles despite sources close to Khloé previously claiming that her family didn't approve of her new romance.

The 'Pop That' hitmaker reportedly wasn't invited to her sister Kim Kardashian and Kanye West's wedding in Florence, Italy last weekend.

Shortly beforehand an insider said: "Kim thinks French isn't a good fit for Khloé and doesn't want some random guy at the wedding."

"Momager Kris Jenner has also weighed in, saying it's too soon to bring French to family functions. This relationship isn't serious according to Khloé, she just wants to have some fun after all of the drama with Lamar."
