

FASHION & STYLE

Khloe Kardashian and French Montana Dating After Divorce With Lamar Odom? Kourtney Kardashian, Scott Disick Double Date With Sister and New Boyfriend, Twitter PHOTO

After filing for a divorce from Lamar Odom, it appears that Khloe Kardashian has moved on to dating French Montana as the two have been spotted out together on numerous occasions. It looks like the two are out and about once again side-by-side on a double date with sister Kourtney Kardashian and Scott Disick.

Fans spotted the two couples in Las Vegas over the weekend and snapped a picture of Khloe holding onto Montana's arm as they walk through the streets. The couples were casually dressed and reportedly dined at New York restaurant Philippe Chow on Saturday evening before calling it a night.

Khloe reportedly made sure that her family also gets time to spend time with her new alleged boyfriend, as they have both reportedly fallen in love.

"She loves the rap scene and can hang," said a source to Hollywood Life. "They love the same music, same night clubs, they have a lot in common."

Although Montana and Khloe haven't publicly confirmed their relationship, photos of the two enjoying themselves on dates and holding hands have made rounds last month to spark romance rumors.

There have also been reports that the two are thinking about moving in together, but some of their friends think that they might be taking it a bit "too fast."

"That's too much, too fast right now," said a source to Hollywood Life. "That is an even bigger commitment and Khloe's not ready for that at this point."

Although the couple are very into each other, it doesn't look like they're packing their bags just yet.

"It's been discussed but it's not something that either of them are seriously considering now," said the source. "She's been there, done that and quite frankly there's no need to do all that."

In the mean time, the two continue to spend a lot of time together.

"They spend nights together when they're traveling," confirmed the source. "And they're around each other all the time. There's no rush to move in with one another right now."

Khloe and Montana were last spotted together just before Kim's wedding at universal Studios with a group of friends. A source said they saw the two hanging out at the park and enjoyed spending quality time together.

"Khloe was there with French Montana and a group of friends and enjoyed visiting both islands of Adventure and Universal Studios theme parks," said the source. "They had a blast and wanted to meet and take pics with every superhero in the park!"