Boom Boom Bing

I received a press release about private dinners and performances sponsored by Bing (the search engine) during the Sundance Film Festival. It's just interesting to see the number of top-shelf celebrities and musicians who will be coming to Park City for the festival. I hope some of the names decide to give impromptu shows for the rest of us. :)

Bing is sponsoring Supper Club dinners as well as the Bing Bar which will host a series of private cast dinners, happy hours, junkets, press conferences and speaking engagements.
