Is Justin Bieber planning to chill by the fire TV while eating fondue during the Super Bowl on Sunday? We're not sure, but we do know that he was partying at Maxim's star-studded big game event over the weekend — and was chatting up a sexy blonde.

After his five-hour detainment at Teterboro Airport on January 31, the Biebs arrived to Maxim's "Big Game Weekend" in NYC at about 1:45 a.m. His table was swarmed by fans while he was there, and he spent a good chunk of time chatting to a blonde. His bodyguards were seen grabbing fans' phones who tried to snap a photo of Justin.

Justin stayed at the star-studded party — which was presented by Talent Resources Sports — until about 4 a.m. Justin can be seen at the party in the photo above. TMZ also has a photo of Justin's flipping the bird at a camera at the party. Stay classy, JB.

Justin was hardly the only bold-faced name at the event that was sponsored by AQUAhydrate, Heavenly Mountain Resort, Patrón Tequila, Philippe by Philippe Chow, Touch by Alyssa Milano, and Wonderful Pistachios. Also in attendance were Real Housewives of New York star Jill Zarin, Breaking Bad star Aaron Paul, and Alyssa Milano.

Do you think Justin should be laying low rather than out partying?
